James McGrory Meets City Officials Regarding North Loundary Line of His Land-City Surveyor Finds It is on Line with the Jewett Property.

Mr. McGrory desires to erect a business block in place of his present residence and ha was of the opinion that his property was of the opinion that his property line on the street extended beyond the Jewett line, which is next on the west, from one to two feet. This would leave a sidewalk but four and one-half feet wide at that point if he built out to the property line. The owner at one time had an iron fence in front of his property, which fence was on the line with the front of the Jewett building's front. This was taken down a few years ago and the entire area covered with a granolithic walk, making a broad walk at that point.

An investigation by City Surveyor Pitcher, who has been searching the records, shows that the south line of the street is where the fence formerly stood, and not where Mr. McGrory stood, and not where Mr. McGrory the street is where the fence formerly stood, and not where Mr. McGrory thought the line was. A map in the records gives the south line as originally established. This will mean that the walk will be eight and a half feet at that point if Mr. McGrory builds to the line. There have been several conferences regarding this matter, and the executive committee has difcussed the matter and will probably take action on the claim for damages at its next meeting.

The president made the following

To the Stockhoiders of the Groton and Stonington Street Railway Co.
Gentlemen: Since we last met another year has passed, and it again becomes my duty to report to you the progress of our road during this time. In my last report I expressed the hope that reviving business conditions might be inductive to increased earnings by our road. In part this is true, but upon the whole it seems to me that the very material increase in our earnings is due more to the general causes than to any specific reason for it appears that the revival of business activities along some parts of our line are offset by correspondingly lax business along other parts.

The gross receipts of this year are $112,238.67, as against $108.740 for least year, showing a very material gain of $3,497.67. The net receipts for this year are $56,022.16, as against $353,692.12 for last year, which shows a gain of $2,323.04 in net earnings, but indicates a slight increase in the per cent. of operation. This has been caused by the expenditure for the replacing of ties and for other necessary repairs. Still it is gratifying to know that our receipts increase much more than our expenses and we have also paid $24,000 in dividends to our stockreport: To the Stockhoiders of the Groton and than our expenses and we have also $24,000 in dividends to our stock-

A very important factor in the earn-ing capacity of the road is our express business. Last year's report men-tioned the gratifying results attained by this branch of our business, and this year's progress has been still more pleasing. The receipts from this alone have been $9.084.56, while last year they were only $6.023.40. This increase has been accomplished by the effort os our superintendent, effort os our superintendent, Mr. Riley.

We have expended $2,200 in improvements during the year, of which $1,150 has been spent for macadam between our rails in the towns of Stonington and Groton. We have also built a blacksmith shop at our station in Mystic repaired our freight house at Westerly, and erected three shelters for the accommodation of our patrons at necessary stations along the patrons at necessary stations along the route of the road. All of these may be considered as permanent, as they will not have to be duplicated in future

The building of the extension to Old Mystic, which I mentioned in my re-port last year, has been deferred for the present by your directors, with the probability that it may be built next year. Our rolling stock is in good condition and apparently will need no re-newals for some time to come. The power station is still a cause for conpower station is still a cause for con-gratulation. Its excellent order, which has been maintained at a minimum cost to the road, without a dollar spent for machinists work since the opening of the road, is due to the careful surveillance and work of our chief engineer. Mr. Barry. In conclusion I may say that the future of this already prosperous road seems especially bright. With the continuance of the courteous treatseems especially oright. With the continuance of the courteous treatment of our passengers by our efficient conductors and the careful runcient conductors and the careful run-ning of cars by our motormen in the avoidance of accidents, and with the continued interest taken by the heads of the different departments, there is no doubt of the success and increased earnings of our company.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS HAMILTON,

President

The stockholders were extremely gratified at the excellent condition of the property and the increased income of the company.

He Wrecked the Car.

He Wrecked the Car.

It was highly improper for a farmer in Waycross Ga., to fire the contents of two revolvers into an automobile which had scared his horse and led to the smashing of his buggy. The car was practically ruined, as the buggy had been, but the occupants were unhurt. The farmer's excuse was that he was tired of having his horses scared by reckless automobile drivers. Lots of American citizens have feit that way, but not being pistol toters have confined themselves to the free use of language. The Georgia way is mighty reprehensible, but the lesson of it is needed.
